

DR. PAMMEL NO LONGER HEADS BOTANY
DEPARTMENT

From the Allison Tribune of
June 12th, 1929

Dr. L. H. Pammel has resigned his position as head of the Department of Botany at Iowa State College after forty years of continuous service. He will remain with the department giving his time largely to research studies and writing.

Dr. Pammel is one of the noblest of our elder educators who has contributed a large share to educational work in this state. His sympathies were always broader than his job and he has given liberally of his time and vigor to the betterment of his adopted state. He was a native of Wisconsin but he was a loyal Iowan. He is known as a leading conservationist all over the United States and in foreign countries. It is to him that we are indebted for our splendid state parks, more than to all others, and no man will have a greater monument when he has passed on.
